It is our pleasure to invite you to participate in the special session on Web Systems Analysis held in September 11–13, 2013 as a part of the 5th International Conference on Computational Collective Intelligence – Technologies and Applications organized in cooperation with: University of Craiova in Romania and Wroclaw University of Technology in Poland. The scope of the session covers different aspects of Web systems.

The aim of this special session is to offer an opportunity to exchange ideas, opinions and experiences, to present current research results, as well as to stimulate new solutions.

Papers accepted for the WebSys session will be included in the ICCCI proceedings published in Lecture Notes in Artificial Intelligence, distributed by Springer-Verlag and indexed by ISI, EI, Scopus, DBLP etc.

Papers are solicited in, but not limited to, the following topics:
- Computer Vision
- Designing Web Interfaces
- Distributed Repositories in Digital Libraries
- Graphic Web Systems
- Human Computer Interaction
- Intelligent Multimedia Systems
- Intelligent Multimedia and Other Web Services
- Multimedia Content Management Systems
- Quality Web Systems: Performance, Security, and Usability
- Recommender Systems
- Semantics in Web Services
- Web Information Systems
- Web Services Applications
- Web Services Data and Grid Applications
- Web Services Indexing
- Web Services Technologies
- Web Services Verification
- Web Services-Based Mobile Applications
- Web Services-Driven Business Process Management
- Web Site Design Methods and Evolution
- Web Systems Development
- Web Systems Community
- Web Systems Security
- Web Traffic Optimization
- Web Usability and Accessibility
- Web 2.0 Systems
- Web Systems Engineering.

Submission: Submitted papers for WebSys should be prepared in LNCS/LNAI format with titles, author names, affiliation, e-mail addresses, an up to 150-words abstract, and a single-column and single-spaced body. The manuscript should be written in English and should not exceed 10 pages. All papers must provide at most five key words including one or more of the session topics. Please follow the instructions given at the ICCCI site to format and submit your paper.

All paper submissions should be done electronically. Authors are invited to electronically submit their paper using the submission system on ICCCI’2013 conference page.

Deadline for paper submission: March 31, 2013
Notification of acceptance: May 10, 2013
Camera ready papers submission: May 31, 2013
Conference date: September 11–13, 2013
